

Web design history

1960s

Creation of Hypertext

Hypertext Concept was created by ted Nelson in the 1960s

1980s

Invention of Internet

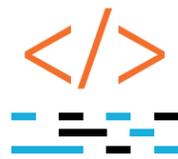

Tim Berners-Lee invented Internet and used hypertext markup languages

1990s

Custom Code

Between 1992 and 1994 software developers began to add their bits to HTML

PHP

1994 is considered to be the beginning of appearing of PHP: a script was written by Rasmus Lerdorf and named "PHP-Tools for Personal Home Page" which collected statistics about visiting a web page.

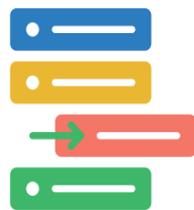

1995

HTML3, GIF, Flash

Creation of HTML3, GIF and Flash, that allow to develop best statistical and dynamic websites

1996

CSS

CSS was first proposed in 1996 by Norwegian scientist Haakon Wiom Lee

2000s

Javascript

Javascript, which become popular in the beginning of 2000s, was created by Brendan Eich

2008

"Responsiveness"

Responsive websites were created: a special approach with the use of flexible structure of the page - "rubber layout" (fluid grid), proportions and sizes of elements which can be set as a percentage

2010

HTML5 and CSS3

Today websites are created with the use of HTML5 and CSS3, that improves the user experience

New trends

Trends including Parallax Scrolling, Flat Design, Video backgrounds, One page website and many others!

Programming school
for kids
www.coddyschool.com

Creating the foundation for a successful future
your child